	Inspired by nostalgic mother's memory, went to the given address by her mother. Realized that the things were in bad condition but no such place to keep the things .The stress related to address had dominated her life unknowingly. So decided to forget the address resolving that there is no worth of pondering over past & wanted to get rid of mental turbulence.		Page-14 "The Address"

В.	Content:3 Expression:3 Both the bird Goldfinch and Laburnum tree have got a divine connection. The bird has built its nest in the tree with a belief that the tree will safeguard her babies. The welcome note of the tree with the babies chirrup and the cautious movement of Goldfinch highlight the essence of a tender hand that feeds the babies. But most importantly the Laburnum tree like a saviour protects the babies, never complains or feels tired of doing its duty. The Laburnum tree without Goldfinch is lifeless and in the presence of Goldfinch the tree has life. The absence and presence of Goldfinch in the tree refers to the numerous upheavals of life. From both the sides, there seems a strong bond as if between a body and soul. (Any other relevant points)		Hornbill- Page-31 "The Laburnum Top"
15.A	Content:3 Expression:3 India has been and is still a male-dominated society. Boys are definitely preferred to girls. In reality, the man still governs unquestioned. It will not be wrong to say that employed women in general work at home like drudges. In our society a wife depends upon her husband; a daughter remains under her parents; a mother depends on her husband and son. A woman finds it difficult to move freely. All social taboos are meant for her. Some women today are free to choose their career, but the majority of them are still oppressed. Strangely enough women in ancient India enjoyed honour and respect and were true better halves of men. They enjoyed equal rights to men. They were at liberty to get an education and choose their life partners. Nowadays, due to education, the condition of women is improving. In, "Mother's Day", Mrs Pearson is described as oppressed. Despite her sacrifice, she is not acknowledged by her family members rather being treated as a mere puppet. Mostly, she is underestimated. It's because of Mrs Fitzgerald; she renews her status though she has ceaseless love within for her family members. Hence, the sacrifices of a woman are unquestioned. She is to be liberated & estimated.	6x1	Snapshot- Page-31 to 52 "Mother's Day"
